The Constitution and Bylaws of the
The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers/
La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors a constituent society of the
ENGINEERING INSTITUTE OF CANADA
(December 5, 2020)

THE CONSTITUTION

Article 1. Name of Organization

The name of the organization is The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers/La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors, hereinafter also referred to as “the Society”; “La Société”; “CSSE/SCIS”; the English name, “The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers” or “CSSE” or the French name, “La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors” or “SCIS”.

Article 2. Founding

The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers/La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors, formerly the Life Members Organization (LMO), a committee of the Council of the Engineering Institute of Canada (EIC), was approved as a Constituent Society of the EIC on September 22, 2002, as requested by Leonard A. Bateman, Chairman of the LMO. On a motion by Guy Gosselin, seconded by Mohamed El-Hawary, the resolution “That the LMO’s application for membership as a Member (Constituent) Society be accepted”, was approved by resolution of the Council, chaired by EIC President Kenneth W. Putt. The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers/La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors is also registered as a Canadian Charitable Organization.

In May 14, 2011 the French name and subtitle was changed to La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors (SCIS) from La Société canadienne des ingénieurs aînés (SCIA), to make the French language more appropriate to Members senior in experience and responsibility rather than merely senior in age.

In October 15, 2014 the English name was changed to The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers (CSSE), to make the English part of the name conform to the French name La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors (SCIS).

The Life Members Organization was constituted by resolution of EIC Council on May 28, 1967 and May 28, 1971. Since the above noted resolutions were passed, the Engineering Institute of Canada (EIC) has undergone significant change. It has become a Federation of Constituent Societies.

Article 3. Type of Organization

The Canadian Society of Senior Engineers/La Société canadienne des ingénieurs seniors shall be registered with the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) as a Canadian charitable organization (Registered Charity) in accordance with CRA regulations. Such operations are to be conducted on a not-for-profit basis without the object of gain for the organization or its members. Any operating surpluses or other accretions to the Society shall be used solely in promoting its objectives.

The CSSE/SCIS acknowledges Bill C-86, Budget Implementation Act, 2018, No.2 which includes new rules to permit charities to carry on unlimited public policy dialogue and development activities (PPDDAs) in furtherance of a stated charitable purpose. Bill C-86 also promotes advancement of education, protecting the environment, promoting volunteerism, protecting human life and property, and promoting industry, trade and commerce. The Income Tax Act permits a charity to fully engage without limitation in PPDDAs that further its stated charitable purpose, provided they never directly or indirectly support political parties or political actors.

During the past several years, reviews of the role and function of CSSE/SCIS by the Canada Revenue Agency (CRA) have occurred. The CSSE/SCIS Board has incorporated constructive recommendations proffered by CRA and has revised its Constitution and Bylaws to ensure compliance with Bill C-86.

Article 4. The CSSE/SCIS Collective

The CSSE/SCIS collective shall comprise a body of senior engineers, applied scientists and others who have worked in an engineering environment, including a non-Canadian engineering environment, or have otherwise practiced in and supported the profession for over 20 years, who have given long and loyal service to their professions and who, through the mission and objectives of the organization, are desirous of paying forward to Canada and its institutions something of what they have learned and received.

Membership in the CSSE/SCIS does not confer on its Members any rights, privileges, or authority to practice as an Engineer, or use the P.Eng. or ing. designation, as such rights can only be authorized and granted by Provincial and Territorial Engineering regulatory bodies.

The French version of the previous paragraph follows:

L'adhésion à la CSSE/SCIS, une société technique savante caritative, ne confère à ses membres aucun droit, privilège ou autorité pour exercer la profession d'ingénieur ou utiliser la désignation P.Eng. ou ing., car ces droits ne peuvent être autorisés et accordés que par les organismes provinciaux de réglementation de la profession d'ingénieur/e.

Since its inception in 2002, CSSE/SCIS has contributed to the well-being of all Canadians through its programs and activities within its mandate notably by issuing apolitical 'learned opinions' based on the unique and vast experience of its Members for the benefit of Canadian society, as well as funding a growing list of donations to qualifying students and organizations.

In addressing issues of increasing concern to the younger generation and those of its Members that make a difference in the younger generation's future professional, economic, and social development choices and opportunities, and in keeping with its charitable purposes, CSSE/SCIS will benefit local, provincial or national societal dialogues by expressing non-political learned insights based on the extensive experience of its Members on the development or introduction of policies and programs. While the contributing of donations to Canadian youth and their supporting organizations is a foundational element of CSSE/SCIS' mandate, support through providing learned insights and mentorship in our areas of unique knowledge and experience may well be of unrivaled value and importance to youth seeking engineering careers.

Article 5. Mission and Objectives

Mission

Maximize the well-being of all Canadians, drawing upon the practical experience, knowledge, skills and wisdom of its senior, multi-disciplinary membership by, inter alia, the following objectives:

Objectives

Promote excellence and efficiencies in the profession of engineering in Canada by:

- Providing funds to qualified donees who support Canadian youth aspiring to have careers in engineering, science and/or related disciplines;
- Promoting public awareness of the engineering history of Canada;
- Mentoring and adjudicating awards of technical excellence for students;
- Conducting, and otherwise supporting, international, national and local symposia, seminars, programs, speaker engagements, technical meetings with regards to Canadian engineering.

Article 6. Management

CSSE/SCIS shall be managed by a volunteer Board of Directors elected by its membership, and shall be governed by its By-laws and by Standard Operating Procedures ratified by the membership. The Board has created a Committee of Officers to manage its business between Board meetings. It is made up of the following four or five Officers: President, President-Elect, Past President, Secretary and Treasurer or Secretary-Treasurer. Upon the vacancy of one or more Officers' positions, the Committee of Officers may designate one of its remaining Officers to assume the position or name a Director or Member as a Committee member, pro tem. The Board may retain a part time administrator to assist it with collection of annual membership dues and donations and disbursement of accounts payable.

Article 7. Amendments to Constitution

This Constitution may be altered, added to, or rescinded by a resolution passed by not less than three-fourths of the Members in good standing present in person, or by vetted proxy, at an Annual General Meeting or a Special Meeting called for that purpose. A notice shall be given to the Board of Directors on proposed amendments to the Constitution at least thirty (30) days prior to the Annual General Meeting or Special Meeting and shall set out the import, but need not contain the exact wording of the Special Resolution to be proposed.

Classes of Membership

The Engineering Profession as a whole has undergone significant changes in its professional practice and has evolved into an integrated practice of interlocking and often overlapping relationships between professional engineering practices and that of applied scientists and interdisciplinary professions. It should be emphasized that this is particularly true at the senior level of professional practice, which is reflected in CSSE/SCIS' collective membership regardless of the degree earned at graduation or subsequent specialty attained. In recognition of the increasingly integrated and interdisciplinary relationships amongst professional engineers and applied and natural scientists, CSSE/SCIS, after its early phase of being based entirely on senior members of the engineering profession, now has two classes of Membership:

- Members comprising traditional engineering professionals and;
- Associate Members comprising other applied scientists and other aligned professionals.

Principle of Professional Equality

The duality of CSSE/SCIS' membership, unique amongst Learned Societies, establishes a principle of societal equality of its two categories of membership at the senior level of professional practice. CSSE/SCIS recognizes the need to carry the uniqueness of this duality forward in the Society's rich tapestry of its complementary Honours and Awards program, thus providing a distinct but equally honorable path for each category of membership. Each Recipient of an Award retains his or her own professional identity.
